

THE RICHIE ALLEN SHOW

The Banned Richie Allen Show

NI 1303 AC

- 1 If anyone hasn't listened to this lovable Irishman - living in Salford with his wife to be [and their two dogs] - you have to put some time aside. Richie hosts his own radio show which he claims is Europe's most listened to independent broadcast. He is also passionate supporter of free speech.
- 2 To be honest - that is where the problem lies. Richie - in mid flow on his radio programme - got his plug pulled by Twitter. He says, he received an automated email saying he had violated one of a number of Twitter's policies. Twitter was apparently deliberately vague on this, as they usually are.
- 3 The thing is - Richie is truly a passionate believer in and supporter of free speech. He believes it is important to tell the story behind the story and the truth as opposed to the official narrative. In pursuit of his beliefs, he has interviewed - and will continue to interview - some great commentators who are themselves passionate about telling the truth - according to them.
- 4 Like ourselves, Richie believes it is right to have everyone's stories, facts and opinions out on the table. The point being, that all these contributions are then given a good kicking - to see what stands up and what doesn't. The real truth is - there are factions afoot that do not like this approach to free speech and act to cancel it. Twitter did this to Richie.
- 5 Now many might think, that our lovable Irishman might have been overly rude and thoroughly discourteous to some high ranking medic - assisting the government, or even a government minister directly - to deserve such a ban. And I would say - not a chance! I have never known Richie to be rude or anything close. He can get a little cross and he does call a spade a spade. Thank God, is what we say. We, as a society, need people like Richie and particularly in the media.
- 6 To close on this story, I believe many people - in fact, I'd say most people to be honest - have little knowledge of the amount of banning currently going on. It is going on all over the world and the main culprits are the social media platforms. In truth, it is not really the platform executives who are making the decision to do this - and in the arbitrary way they are. They are pressured to do so by those who wish the official narrative to be the only narrative.
- 7 There are those who really do not want everyone's stories, facts and opinions out on the table - so that all the contributions can be given a good kicking to see what stands up and what doesn't.
- 8 Before leaving the topic - The New York Post last week published a story headed - "Government dictating what social-media bans - is tyrannical".

See link below.

CONNECT published a story last week about Joe Biden on the same topic. "Covid Misinformation is the Key" [1286-AA].

It said: "The BBC reports Biden as warning that the spread of C19 misinformation on social media is "killing people". The article goes on to suggest that social media platforms are clamping down on that misinformation AND will be doing more to censor it OFF the internet".

But Biden, Johnson and all the other Mister Men, won't put their stuff on the table so it can be given a good kicking. We should all be asking, "WHY IS THAT?"

- 9 Do have a listen to Richie - his programme is still available on other platforms. There is a link below to his webpage and radio programme below. I am sure you will be entertained - and even truly amazed.
