Mum Stands Against 5G Mast

TB-5476A

As most councillors aren't scientists – who's advising them and why no debate?

- 1 The image below is an aerial view of one of the most famous buildings in the city of Bath. It's called the Cross Bath and became famous in the 18C for visitors bathing in the hot spring waters known widely for their healing effect.

Due to the water's special quality, given the magical effect it had on people's health - Bath became a major centre for healing. Following a long period of decay, this building - and others - have since been renovated and are now again enjoyed by modern day visitors. It is ironic, that the city is now falling fowl to a modern technology - considered to be bad for people's health.

- 2 The problem is that the city council appears to be in favour of covering the city in 5G masts - which soon will be emitting what many say are dangerous electromagnetic frequencies (EMF). We've all quietly been impacted by these frequencies already, since they relate to mobile phone and the internet Wi-Fi signals. However, the difference with 5G, is that the 5G signal is considered not only to be far more powerful, but - due to this - is far more dangerous than people have experienced to date, with existing technology.

At this point in time – it hasn't been made clear just how much the city councillors know and understand about these dangers. It is also not clear, how much the councillors are being pressed to allow deployment of the masts which will emit the radiation. Given the push by the government to install massive Data Centres across the country, coupled with a programme of Digital ID – the reasons for which have neither been explained to the public – let alone agreed by the public – it appears councils countrywide are being pressed to embrace this technology and do so without due process.

One mum - of a child at a school in Bath - has picked up the baton and is helping to lead a charge against a bid to install a 5G mast close to her child's school - and their family home.

The mum recounts:

- 3 So, there it is - in black and white – the planning submission number 25/04239/FUL. Cellnex UK Limited has lodged an application for a 5G mobile base at Beechen Cliff School.
'To say I am horrified is an understatement.'
- 4 For context: Bath, in the Southwest of the UK, is where I live and Beechen Cliff School is where my daughter goes to school. The proposed new phone mast would be approximately 200 yards from my home. Beechen Cliff School has more than 1200 children on its roll, from ages 11-18.
- 5 I have lived in this area for 20 years. We chose to live here as it has beautiful views, and it is the best of both worlds; it's a short walk to the city centre, but it also feels rural. Within five minutes you can walk to Alexandra Park and Lyncombe fields - a walk I do often. If we are unsuccessful in our appeal and the phone mast is built, we will put our house up for sale - and our chapter in Bath will be forced to an abrupt close. I do not wish to be blasted with non-ionizing radiation day and night.
- 6 As many readers of this article will already know, 5G exposure comes with serious health risks. Last year, World Council for Health reported on two unexplained deaths of primary age school children in Liverpool - a 4G LTE mast opposite the school was shown to be emitting dangerously high EMF readings.
- 7 Other previous articles and links found on the World Council for Health website explain the health risks:

Among the threats due to the emitted radiation from these masts are cancer and DNA damage: Studies have shown that prolonged exposure to radiofrequency radiation (RFR) can lead to oxidative stress - causing DNA damage, and even cancer (Pall, 2018; Yakymenko et al., 2016).

Neurological effects: Research suggests that EMF exposure can disrupt the nervous system, leading to headaches, fatigue, and cognitive impairment (Pall, 2016).

Reproductive harm: There's evidence that EMF exposure can reduce sperm quality and fertility (Pall, 2018).

Additional symptoms of EMF exposure: palpitations, insomnia, tinnitus, dizziness, anxiety, nausea and depression.

- 8 As mentioned in the opening paragraphs - for centuries - Bath was known as a city of healing with internationally renowned hot springs. But things are about to change significantly.

Bath is now one of the first designated 'smart cities' in the UK. A total of 16 5G antennas are being installed in locations around the city centre as part of an 18-month trial by Bath and North East Somerset Council which started in 2024. The 5G pilot in Bath city centre — called "One Word" (an acronym for Western O-RAN Deployment) is being funded by a £773,132 government grant – taken from public funds one assumes - and one of these sites is actually situated within the historic Roman Baths.

- 9 Would Bladud who, as legend has it, healed himself of leprosy by washing in Bath's healing waters, and the Romans who knew of the healing powers of spring water in Bath – nearly 2000yrs ago - , be proud of the direction we are heading in?

10 Protect Our Children and Our Wildlife

A 2025 Swedish-Norwegian study reports an "alarming rise" in memory problems among children and adolescents, which researchers link to the increased exposure to wireless radiation from Wi-Fi, 4G, and 5G technologies.

The study found that medical consultations for memory disorders in Norway increased 8.5-fold and diagnoses of mild cognitive impairment in Sweden surged nearly 60-fold over the past two decades—a period that coincides with the widespread adoption of smartphones and wireless devices. The scientists argue that microwave radiation from these devices, even at levels below official safety limits, can affect the brain's memory centre - the hippocampus - and they are calling for immediate measures to protect children, while accusing authorities of ignoring the growing evidence.

Industry to date, has not produced a single study to show that 5G is safe or undertaken any risk assessment for effects on humans, wildlife and the environment for this laser-like beam forming technology. This technology is completely unregulated – safety limits for trees, plants, birds and bees do not exist.

11 Urgent Action is Now Needed

It's incredibly galling - as someone who writes about the dangers of 5G - to now be in the battle of my life, against a proposed phone mast, right in my own backyard. We only have until 5th December 2025 to stop this. It's not very long but it can be done if we - the People - work together. Everyone is able to comment on this proposed mast, irrelevant of where they live.

Please help me and the school children of Bath, by sharing this article widely and commenting on the planning submission (details provided below). If you – as a reader and carer for our environment and not least ours and our children's health - would like to join the team in opposition to the mast, please email:
