Meeting: CUCA+MARC

LOLA & Co Tapas Restaurant and Wine Bar

2283 A

Cuca and eldest son Marc are two parts of an enterprising family of five. In this podcast we learn how this Spanish family came to leave Barcelona – move to Madrid, London and then finally, Tetbury.

In Tetbury, their first business to open was headed by Pep, Cuca's husband. Pep and Cuca's original concentration was in antiques and art which in 2012 they transplanted from Barcelona to Madrid. With the family now based in Tetbury, the Tetbury showrooms were soon accompanied by business No2.

The lockdowns through 2020 and 21, focused the family's interests on the sourcing of good food. Sat around their kitchen table at home, the family decided to open a delicatessen in town – directly opposite their gallery showrooms – sourcing and supplying wonderful foods with a bent towards their homeland.

It is interesting in life how one thing leads to another. Fortuitously, the retail unit right next door to their deli – in the same building almost – became vacant. It was a short step physically - and even a shorter step mentally – for the family to see their obvious next step. A tapas restaurant and wine bar.

And so it came to be – early in 2022 – the third and most recent family business opened in Tetbury – involving mum, dad and their 3 boys – young Pep and Kim being the younger brothers. How lucky are we – the people of this town and around - to have among us, Pep and Cuca's family – but not least their family of wonderful and treasured businesses.

A note for everyone to keep in mind – and particularly young people. Language barriers are no barrier to life or to progression. Before moving to Tetbury in 2016, the family had little or no command of the English language.

Their success was not in the least held back for this temporary gap in their skill personal sets.

So as a message for every young person, just decide what you want to achieve in life – and where – and JUST GO FOR IT!

It is what life is really about!
